

Photos, Sergio Moraes, Reuters

Brazilian researchers hope that concern over the environment will slow the destruction of the Amazon and get the government to appreciate the sustainability of medical research versus logging.